

P10 Team Building and Personal Ownership

This session will help you become a better leader and team player by understanding what makes teams successful and how to activate your personal ownership.

Participants will:

Building successful Teams

Understand the 3 cornerstones that make up a winning team; Purpose, Trust and Collaboration. Learn how leaders facilitate winning teams even at the most challenging of times.

What enables people and teams to do what seems impossible?

Group demo demonstrating how a 4 people can pick up one person with only two fingers each. Discuss what works and doesn't work in team performance.

Effective and Efficient Communication

Communication is always an interaction. Maintaining perspective is key to success in any interaction so that each party feels heard and understood. Identify your personality type and to better understand other personality types and how to better communicate with them. We break out into groups to do a role-play exercise that powerfully shows the value of perspective in any conversation or conflict.

Group Challenge

Break out into groups and be challenged to create a process that represents a product or service. Create the process and see what happens when the circumstances and requirements change and put the team under pressure. See how constraints affect peoples thinking, personal responsibility, communication and how to better leads teams under difficult circumstances.

Attitudes in the workplace

Introduce the energy of thought and how it affects our individual and group attitude. Then Break into pairs to do a fun and powerful exercise to experience the power of our words and how they shape our attitude.

Ownership versus Accountability

Accountability feels punitive and is often referred to after something has gone wrong. Leaders focus on ownership over accountability to drive engagement, activate problem solving and elevate responsibility.
